Blast from the Past...

I found an article about Our Daily Bread from waaay back in 1985, the year we were founded. I loved this quote from Cookie: "We didn't have to pay for anything when we got started. Our first six months in this building were rent-free. All of our appliances, tables, desks, plates and utensils—not to mention all of the remodeling—were donated. Whenever we placed a need before the Lord, someone would turn up with what we needed, from food to refrigerators. We operate solely on donations and it's working. One of the construction workers who helped us remodel used to say, "I don't know where God is on Sunday, but I know where He is the rest of the week."
